ADMIRAL WALKER QUESTIONED.

Asked About Difficulties of Panama

Canal Route.

The committee on interoceanic canals

held a session yesterday afternoon, during which Senator Morgan questioned Admiral

Walker concerning the difficulties of constructing a canal by the Panama route.

He asked especially about the effect of the water discharge through the spillway

from the artificial lake to be made by the construction of the Bohio dam. In response Admiral Walker said that he thought it possible that the water might find its way back into the canal, but he did not seem inclined to think that the canal would be injured by it if it did. He also said, in reply to questions, that, so far as he knew, no experiments beyond a few

borings had been made to ascertain whether a secure foundation could be obtained for the proposed pier at the dam, but he believed that by the use of cement it would be possible to get a good foundation.

APPOINTMENTS ARE VALID

JUSTICE CLABAUGH DECIDES THE JUSTICES OF PEACE QUESTION.

Signs an Order Quashing Quo Warranto Proceedings and Dismisses the Petition.

At the conclusion of the arguments in connection with the proceedings for writ of quo warranto instituted by Catherine N. Thompson against Samuel C. Mills, the issue constituting a test case to determine the validity of the appointment of the justices of the peace new serving, Justice Clabaugh of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, late yesterday afternoon, signed an order quashing the writ and dismissing the petition. This action on the part of the court holds the appointment of the ten local justices of the peace to have been valid. An appeal from the ruling was noted.

Ten justices of the peace were provided by the code. Before it became operative the President appointed the justices, the Senate confirmed them and they subscribed to the oath of office. The contention was that the appointment of Mr. Mills, his confirmation and the taking of the oath of office were without authority of law, they having occurred prior to the fime the code became operative.

Justice Clabaugh Gives Reasons. In disposing of the matter, Justice Clabaugh took the view that the office of justice of the peace has been in existence in the District of Columbia for many years, and is continued by the code just as it existed prior to the adoption of the code. In making the recent appointments, so Justice Clabaugh held, the President merely ap-pointed to offices not created by the code, but to the same offices that had existed and were continued by the code. The latter provides that "the judicial power in the District shall continue as at present to be vested in inferior courts, namely, justices of the peace and the Police Court. • • • "

The President's recent appointments to the office, according to Justice Clabaugh, were of the same character as though he had sent the names of individuals to the Senate to fill vacancies created by the expiration of the terms of incumbents of the

CAB DRIVERS COMPLAIN.

Want to Increase Carriage Rate Because of High Price of Feed.

W. E. Thomas of 241 14th street northwest has written to the District Commissioners declaring that, under a recent order put in effect at the 6th street passenger station, the Pennsylvania Cab Company has rights which other cabs do not have. He declares the agents of the railroad company are allowed to solicit for their cabs, while the public vehicle drivers have not that privilege. Mr. Thomas also requests permission for the cab drivers to charge higher rates on account of the increase in the price of feed. When oats were from 25 to 35 cents bushel," he says. "and corn $1.75 to $2.50 a barrel, we had the same rate that applies now, and for months we have had to pay 65 to 80 cents a bushel for oats, and $3.50 to $4.25 a barrel for corn, with no increase in the carriage rate. There has been prepared a bill by the hack inspector and approved by the major of police last spring which is a fair rate and all that has been wanting is some action by your honorable body, which I hope you will grant the pool drivers and owners of teams." Mr. Thomas' communication was referred through the police department to A. R. Lamb, the hack inspector, who has sub-mitted a report in which he says: "The employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have not been and are not occupied by the company i with its cab service is upon that portion of B street immediately west of the station, which was at one time set apart by police regulation for the exclusive use of standing; have not had a single failure; I con- of the public space was, however, denied by Judge Scott of the Police Court more than a year ago in the case of the District of Columbia against James Smith. It May Resume Sessions Before the End of the Month.

In consequence of the continued absence of Gen. John C. C. Black and Gen. James Carnahan, the committee on pensions of the National Encampment of the G. A. R. adjourned indefinitely yesterday afternoon. It is thought the session may be resumed in the latter part of the current month and that the two members indicated may then attend. Gen. Eli W. Torrence. rence, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army and ex-officio chairman of the committee, expressed himself as pleased with the progress made by the board and conthat a session of the full committee would conclude its work to the full satisfaction of the Grand Army.

Nearly the entire session yesterday was spent behind closed doors, when the committeemen discussed the policies of the bureau of pensions, as disclosed by their investigations. What conclusions were reached could not be learned. Any anreached could not be learned. Any announcement of results the committee may make is to be in the form of a statement signed by the entire committee, said General Torrence, and not given out informatile. ally. INQUIRY REGARDING ITS USE FOR PURCHASE OF BOOKS.

Gen. Boynton Transmits Letter and Requests Opinion of Controller

Gen. H. V. Boynton, president of the board of education, has forwarded to the District Commissioners a letter from Mr. A. T. Stuart, superintendent of schools, asking that the Commissioners obtain an opinion from the controller of the treasury touching the use of the equipment fund for the purchase of books for the use of the manual training schools. To use the contingent fund, which is small, Gen. Boynton says, would impose too great burdens upon "It would seem," he adds, "as if Mr. Stuart makes it clear that such books as he refers to are as much a part of the equipment of these schools as machinery and other apparatus. Superintendent Stu art explains the matter as follows: "The current appropriation act carries an appropriation of $25,000 for 'furniture for and equipment of Manual Training School No. 1.' and of $37,800 for the same purpose for Manual Training School No. 2.

"The principals of these schools desire to purchase as an essential part of the equip-ment of their respective schools a large number of reference books, technical in their character, for the use of the teachers in the various departments of manual train-Intention of the Board. "It was the intention of the board of education in asking for this amount to make special provision for necessary technical books under the head of equipment, it being well understood that the contingent fund was not large enough to be used for this purpose, although books and books of reference' are specially named in said fund.

In fact, the term equipment was designed to provide everything in the line of machinery, apparatus, books, etc., that might be necessary to put these schools in work-ing order. If after special provision has been thus made by Congress for this purpose any considerable part of the equip-ment must be purchased from the contingent fund, the purpose of the appropria-tion will be thereby defeated and the contingent fund materially crippled. In this case the books cannot be bought at all if their cost is to be charged to the contingent fund, as that fund will barely suffice for current needs. "I respectfully request that you will sub-mit this matter to the controller in the hope that he will render a favorable decision in the case in point. "It is of great importance to the success of these schools that the question of their book supply should be determined without further delay."

peared and ascended the stairs. After hanging up his coat and hat he started through the house as if he had been there before. He would probably made himself at home in a short time had not one of the domestics followed him and inquired what he wanted. No attention was paid to the domestic until the latter caught him by the coat, and then it was that he inquired for Mrs. Dennison. Admitting he was mistaken in the house the stranger put on his overcoat and hat and left. There was a reception being held at the house at the time the man appeared and the latter probably thought he would be able to go through the rooms without attracting the attention of anybody. The man is described as being about forty years old, medium build done hair and was He worse.
